

Construction Licensing

The Construction Law Group works closely with clients in the area of construction licensing. Firm attorneys have represented contractors, individual qualifiers, engineers and building inspectors and officials in license complaints, as well as having filed numerous complicated license applications for clients.